Re: Notice of Data Security Incident

To Whom It May Concern:

We write on behalf of Audio Advisor, Inc. (“Audio Advisor”), to notify you of a data security incident that Audio Advisor recently experienced. The security incident involved the presence of malware on the servers of one of our third-party vendors, Freestyle Solutions, Inc. (“Freestyle”). Freestyle provides shopping cart and payment processing functionality to Audio Advisor. In early February 2022, Freestyle was notified by another customer that malware was found on a server hosting that customer’s website. According to Freestyle, it initiated an investigation and removed malware found on servers that hosted certain customers’ e-commerce sites, including AudioAdvisor.com. At that time Freestyle could not determine the scope of the incident or whether any payment card information was compromised.

Freestyle retained reputable data security experts to conduct a thorough investigation of the incident’s nature and scope, and to assist the vendor in containment and remediation efforts. On or about August 2, 2022 Freestyle communicated the results of that investigation to Audio Advisor, including that payment card information for individuals who used a card on the Audio Advisor between September 18, 2020 and February 3, 2022 may have been acquired by an unauthorized party. That information included cardholder name, payment card number, card verification code, and expiration date. Based on the investigation, Freestyle found no evidence that other cardholder information was affected by this incident.

Upon receiving notice that customer payment card information may have been compromised, we commenced our own internal investigation which concluded on September 14, 2022. That investigation identified sixty-seven (67) New Hampshire residents whose personal information was accessed without authorization. We remain in contact with Freestyle and are still waiting for additional information, including the final investigation report from Freestyle’s investigation firm. We are providing you this notice now and will supplement as necessary pending the receipt of the final investigation report.

Audio Advisor is acting to assist the New Hampshire residents who may be impacted by this event. Audio Advisor is distributing the enclosed notice to affected residents and recommending actions the residents can take to protect themselves, such as reviewing account statements for suspicious activity, obtaining credit reports, and placing fraud alerts or security freezes on their credit files. Furthermore, Freestyle has also taken steps to identify and block the malware operating on Audio Advisor's server, has notified federal law enforcement authorities, and has coordinated with payment card companies to protect cardholders.

Thank you for your attention in this matter.

Sincerely,

MILLER JOHNSON

Notice of Data Breach

Dear [Firstname] [Lastname],

As an Audio Advisor customer, you are very important to us and that is why we are sending you this letter.

Audio Advisor recently became aware of a data security issue (“Incident”) involving the presence of malware on the servers of one of our third-party vendors, Freestyle Solutions (“Freestyle”). Freestyle provides the shopping cart and payment processing functionality for various companies’ e-commerce sites, including for Audio Advisor. Freestyle has confirmed that the malware was removed and additional steps were taken to block the unauthorized activity and to safeguard against future unauthorized activity.

We are reaching out as our customers are a top priority, and we take the protection of your information very seriously.

Below is additional information about what happened, what the vendor did in response, and what steps you can take to further protect your information.

What Happened?

In early February 2022, Freestyle was notified by another customer that malware had been identified on a server hosting that customer’s website. According to Freestyle, it commenced an investigation and identified and removed malware found on servers that hosted certain customers’ e-commerce sites, including AudioAdvisor.com. At that time, Freestyle could not determine the scope of the Incident or whether any payment card information had been compromised.

Freestyle retained reputable data security experts to conduct a thorough investigation of the incident’s nature and scope and assist in the vendor’s containment and remediation efforts. Based on the investigation, Freestyle informed us in early August 2022 that the payment card information of individuals who used a card on our site between September 18, 2020 and February 3, 2022 may have been acquired by an unauthorized party. Upon receiving notice that our customers' payment card information may have been compromised, we commenced our own internal investigation which concluded on September 14, 2022. We have been in contact with Freestyle during this time regarding the Incident, and we are still waiting for additional information, including the final investigation report from Freestyle's investigation firm. We are providing you this notice now and will supplement as necessary pending the receipt of the final investigation report.

What Information Was Involved?

According to Freestyle, the malware was designed to collect certain payment card information, including cardholder name, payment card number, card verification code, and expiration date. Based on the investigation, Freestyle has provided no evidence that other cardholder personal information, such as email address, street address, or phone number, was affected by this issue. Freestyle has stated that no social security numbers or other state identification numbers were impacted by the Incident.

What We Are Doing

As indicated above, after becoming aware of the issue, Freestyle took steps to identify and remove the malware and block further unauthorized activity. Similarly, Freestyle launched an extensive investigation with the assistance of data security experts to determine the timeframes of exposure for each of the Freestyle's affected customers and to identify impacted cardholders. Freestyle also notified federal law enforcement authorities and has been coordinating with the payment card companies in an effort to protect affected cardholders.

What You Can Do

Please consider the following recommendations:

- Review Your Account Statements. We encourage you to remain vigilant by reviewing your account statements. If you believe there is an unauthorized charge on your card, please contact your financial institution or card issuer immediately. The payment card brands' policies provide that cardholders have zero liability for unauthorized charges that are reported in a timely manner. Please contact your card brand or issuing bank for more information about the policy that applies to you.
- Order a Credit Report. You are entitled under U.S. law to one free credit report annually from each of the three nationwide consumer reporting agencies. To order your free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call toll-free at 1-877-322-8228.
- Review the Reference Guide. The attached Reference Guide provides additional recommendations on the protection of personal information.

For More Information

If you have any questions about this issue, please email us at security@audioadvisor.com or call us at 1-800-942-0220. Our phone lines are open to assist you Monday-Friday 9am-4pm (Eastern).

We hope this information is useful to you, and we sincerely regret any inconvenience or concern this may cause our customers.

Sincerely,

Wayne Schuurman, President

Reference Guide

We encourage affected customers to consider taking the following steps:

Order A Free Credit Report. To order your free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com, call toll-free at 1-877-322-8228, or complete the Annual Credit Report Request Form on the U.S. Federal Trade Commission's ("FTC's") website at www.consumer.ftc.gov and mail it to Annual Credit Report Request Service, P.O. Box 105281, Atlanta, GA 30348-5281. The three nationwide consumer reporting agencies provide free annual credit reports only through the website, toll-free number or request form.

When you receive your credit report, review it carefully. Look for accounts you did not open. Look in the "inquiries" section for names of creditors from whom you have not requested credit. Some companies bill under names other than their store or commercial names. The consumer reporting agency will be able to tell you when that is the case. Look in the "personal information" section for any inaccuracies in your information (such as home address and Social Security number). If you see anything you do not understand, call the consumer reporting agency at the telephone number on the report. Errors in this information may be a warning sign of possible identity theft. You should notify the consumer reporting agencies of any inaccuracies in your report, whether due to error or fraud, as soon as possible so the information can be investigated and, if found to be in error, corrected. If there are accounts or charges you did not authorize, immediately notify the appropriate consumer reporting agency by telephone and in writing. Consumer reporting agency staff will review your report with you. If the information cannot be explained, then you will need to call the creditors involved. Information that cannot be explained also should be reported to your local police or sheriff's office because it may signal criminal activity.

Report Incidents. If you detect any unauthorized transactions in a financial account, promptly notify your payment card company or financial institution. If you detect any incident of identity theft or fraud, promptly report the incident to law enforcement, the FTC and your state Attorney General. If you believe your identity has been stolen, the FTC recommends that you take these steps:

Close the accounts that you have confirmed or believe have been tampered with or opened fraudulently. For streamlined checklists and sample letters to help guide you through the recovery process, please visit <https://www.identitytheft.gov/>.

File a local police report. Obtain a copy of the police report and submit it to your creditors and any others that may require proof of the identity theft crime.

You can contact the FTC to learn more about how to protect yourself from becoming a victim of identity theft and how to repair identity theft:

Federal Trade Commission
Consumer Response Center
600 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW
Washington, DC 20580
1-877-IDTHEFT (438-4338)

Consider Placing a Fraud Alert on Your Credit File. To protect yourself from possible identity theft, consider placing a fraud alert on your credit file. A fraud alert helps protect you against the possibility of an identity thief opening new credit accounts in your name. When a merchant checks the credit history of someone applying for credit, the merchant gets a notice that the applicant may be the victim of identity theft. The alert notifies the merchant to take steps to verify the identity of the applicant. You can place a fraud alert on your credit report by calling any one of the toll-free numbers provided below. You will reach an automated telephone system that allows you to flag your file with a fraud alert at all three consumer reporting agencies. For more information on fraud alerts, you also may contact the FTC as described above.

Equifax	Equifax Information Services LLC P.O. Box 740241 Atlanta, GA 30374	1-800-525-6285 www.equifax.com
Experian	Experian Inc. P.O. Box 9554 Allen, TX 75013	1-888-397-3742 www.experian.com
TransUnion	TransUnion LLC P.O. Box 2000 Chester, PA 19016	1-800-680-7289 www.transunion.com

Consider Placing a Security Freeze on Your Credit File. You may wish to place a “security freeze” (also known as a “credit freeze”) on your credit file. A security freeze is designed to prevent potential creditors from accessing your credit file at the consumer reporting agencies without your consent. Unlike a fraud alert, you must place a security freeze on your credit file at each consumer reporting agency individually. There is no charge to place or lift a security freeze. For more information on security freezes, you may contact the three nationwide consumer reporting agencies or the FTC as described above. As the instructions for establishing a security freeze differ from state to state, please contact the three nationwide consumer reporting agencies to find out more information.

The consumer reporting agencies may require proper identification prior to honoring your request. For example, you may be asked to provide:

- Your full name with middle initial and generation (such as Jr., Sr., II, III)
- Your Social Security number
- Your date of birth
- Addresses where you have lived over the past five years
- A legible copy of a government-issued identification card (such as a state driver’s license or military ID card)
- Proof of your current residential address (such as a current utility bill or account statement)

For Massachusetts Residents. You have the right to obtain a police report and request a security freeze as described above. The consumer reporting agencies may require that you provide certain personal information (such as your name, Social Security number, date of birth, and address) and proper identification (such as a copy of a government-issued ID card and a bill or statement) prior to honoring your request to place a security freeze on your account.

For New Mexico Residents. You have rights under the federal Fair Credit Reporting Act ("FCRA"). These include, among others, the right to know what is in your file; to dispute incomplete or inaccurate information; and to have consumer reporting agencies correct or delete inaccurate, incomplete, or unverifiable information. For more information about the FCRA, please visit <https://www.consumer.ftc.gov/articles/pdf-0096-fair-credit-reporting-act.pdf> or www.ftc.gov.
