
Dear Sir or Madam,

My name is Eva Pulliam and I am a Partner at ArentFox Schiff LLP. We represent BluePearl Specialty + Emergency Pet Hospital (“BluePearl”). We are reaching out to you to provide notice and information regarding a data incident experienced by BluePearl. Due to an administrative error, the Form 1095-C’s (“form(s)”) for BluePearl current and former associates were incidentally mailed to the wrong individual on or around February 3, 2022. Namely, the forms were sent to one other individual who was eligible for benefits with BluePearl in 2021, which means an individual that was a BluePearl employee in 2021. BluePearl became aware of this incident on February 3, 2022. The forms contain the following types of personal information: name, mailing address, last four digits of social security number (all other digits were redacted), healthcare coverage information, and if applicable, dependent information (e.g., name of covered dependent, last four digits of social security number of dependent, and/or date of birth of dependent).

Protecting the privacy and security of data is of critical importance to BluePearl. BluePearl has been actively working to conduct a full investigation into this incident, and BluePearl has put in place additional controls to protect against a similar incident in the future.

BluePearl provided notice letters with a free credit monitoring offer for 24 months to affected individuals. A copy of the notice provided to seven (7) New Hampshire residents is attached. The letters were mailed on February 25, 2022.

Please let us know if you have any questions or need anything further. We can be reached through email or phone at any time if there are any questions.

Best regards,
Eva Pulliam

What Information Was Involved?	The forms contain the following types of personal information: name, mailing address, last four digits of social security number (all other digits were redacted), healthcare coverage information, and dependent information (e.g., name of covered dependent, last four digits of social security number of dependent, and/or date of birth of dependent).

Further, while we have no reason to believe that sensitive financial information was exposed, it is always good practice to monitor your account statements and credit reports to guard against fraud and identity theft. For your convenience, we have provided contact information for the three major credit reporting agencies below. Under U.S. law, a consumer is entitled to one free credit report annually from each of the three major credit reporting bureaus, Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion. To order your free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call, toll-free, 1-877-322-8228. You may also directly contact the three major credit reporting agencies listed below. These credit reporting agencies provide a free copy of your credit report, at your request, once every 12 months. Consumers also have the right to place an initial or extended “fraud alert” on a credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a 1-year alert that is placed on a consumer’s credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer’s credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer’s identity before extending new credit. If you are a victim of identity theft, you are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting seven years. Should you wish to place a fraud alert, please contact any one of the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below. As an alternative to a fraud alert, consumers have the right to place a “credit freeze” on a credit report, which will prohibit a credit bureau from releasing information in the credit report without the consumer’s express authorization. The credit freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in your name without your consent. However, you should be aware that using a credit freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in your credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application you make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit. Pursuant to federal law, you cannot be charged to place or lift a credit freeze on your credit report. To request a security freeze, you will need to provide the following information:

1. Full name (including middle initial as well as Jr., Sr., II, III, etc.);
2. Social Security number;
3. Date of birth;
4. Addresses for the prior two to five years;
5. Proof of current address, such as a current utility bill or telephone bill;
6. A legible photocopy of a government-issued identification card (state driver's license or ID card, etc.); and
7. A copy of either the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency concerning identity theft if you are a victim of identity theft.
