Re: Incident Notification

Dear Attorney General MacDonald:

We are writing on behalf of our client, Car Wash Partners, Inc., dba Mister Car Wash, to provide notice of a security incident.¹

On April 28, 2020, Car Wash Partners determined that an email security incident may have resulted in unauthorized access to personal information of two New Hampshire residents, including names and Social Security numbers. Upon learning of the incident, Car Wash Partners immediately took steps to secure the email accounts, launched an investigation, and a cybersecurity firm was engaged to assist. The investigation determined that an unauthorized individual accessed the email accounts at various times between October 30, 2019 and January 14, 2020. The investigation was not able to determine which emails and attachments, if any, were accessed by the unauthorized person. Therefore, Car Wash Partners conducted a thorough review of the contents of the email accounts and determined that an email or an attachment to an email in the accounts contained the personal information of two New Hampshire residents.

Today, Car Wash Partners is sending notification letters via First Class Mail to two New Hampshire residents whose personal information was contained in the accessed email accounts. This notice is being provided in accordance with N.H. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 359-C:20. Enclosed is a sample copy of the letter. Fraud Alerts and Credit or Security Freezes:

Fraud Alerts: There are two types of general fraud alerts you can place on your credit report to put your creditors on notice that you may be a victim of fraud—an initial alert and an extended alert. You may ask that an initial fraud alert be placed on your credit report if you suspect you have been, or are about to be, a victim of identity theft. An initial fraud alert stays on your credit report for one year. You may have an extended alert placed on your credit report if you have already been a victim of identity theft with the appropriate documentary proof. An extended fraud alert stays on your credit report for seven years.

To place a fraud alert on your credit reports, contact one of the nationwide credit bureaus. A fraud alert is free. The credit bureau you contact must tell the other two, and all three will place an alert on their versions of your report.

For those in the military who want to protect their credit while deployed, an Active Duty Military Fraud Alert lasts for one year and can be renewed for the length of your deployment. The credit bureaus will also take you off their marketing lists for pre-screened credit card offers for two years, unless you ask them not to.

Credit or Security Freezes: You have the right to put a credit freeze, also known as a security freeze, on your credit file, free of charge, which makes it more difficult for identity thieves to open new accounts in your name. That's because most creditors need to see your credit report before they approve a new account. If they can't see your report, they may not extend the credit.

How do I place a freeze on my credit reports? There is no fee to place or lift a security freeze. Unlike a fraud alert, you must separately place a security freeze on your credit file at each credit reporting company. For information and instructions to place a security freeze, contact each of the credit reporting agencies at the addresses below:

- Experian Security Freeze, PO Box 9554, Allen, TX 75013, www.experian.com
- TransUnion Security Freeze, PO Box 2000, Chester, PA 19016, www.transunion.com
- Equifax Security Freeze, PO Box 105788, Atlanta, GA 30348, www.equifax.com

You'll need to supply your name, address, date of birth, Social Security number and other personal information.

After receiving your freeze request, each credit bureau will provide you with a unique PIN (personal identification number) or password. Keep the PIN or password in a safe place. You will need it if you choose to lift the freeze.

How do I lift a freeze? A freeze remains in place until you ask the credit bureau to temporarily lift it or remove it altogether. If the request is made online or by phone, a credit bureau must lift a freeze within one hour. If the request is made by mail, then the bureau must lift the freeze no later than three business days after getting your request.

If you opt for a temporary lift because you are applying for credit or a job, and you can find out which credit bureau the business will contact for your file, you can save some time by lifting the freeze only at that particular credit bureau. Otherwise, you need to make the request with all three credit bureaus.
