33 Capitol Street
Concord, New Hampshire 03301

Dear Attorney General Ayotte:

We are writing to notify you about an incident that occurred between February 16, 2007 and February 20, 2007 that potentially affects personal information relating to individuals residing in the state of New Hampshire.

As described in the attached letter to potentially affected individuals, we believe that subscriber IDs and passwords assigned to certain customers to access credit reports may have been compromised. The IDs and passwords may have been used to access credit report information about individuals. This information may include the individual's name, address, social security number, and similar identifying information. We have addressed this unauthorized access by immediately terminating the subscriber IDs and passwords in question. We are also working closely with law enforcement authorities to investigate this matter and we are conducting audits of the information systems used.

We are seeking to notify all potentially affected individuals by sending the attached letter. Through our internal investigation following the incident, we have determined that personal information regarding approximately 1 individual residing in New Hampshire may have been affected by the breach. We plan to notify all potentially affected individuals by March 1, 2007.

Please contact me at (727) 290-1000 x4125 if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

Carolyn Myers-Simmonds, Esq.

Notification of Unauthorized Acquisition of Private Information

Dear [Consumer Name]:

This is to notify you that it has been brought to our attention that certain aspects of your personal information may have been acquired without valid authorization or permission.

AccuFacts Pre-Employment Screening, Inc., (now known as First Advantage SBS) is a consumer-reporting agency that provides background checks to its clients who are employers primarily for the purpose of evaluating individuals for employment purposes.

We have terminated the compromised subscriber user-ids and passwords in question and are working closely with law enforcement authorities in their investigation. As a result of the investigation, your personal information including your name, address and social security number may have been accessed without proper authorization. Because the information relates to employment credit reports, your actual account numbers were not disclosed. We are providing the following information to help protect you from potential misuse of your information including the potential of identity theft.

Steps We Recommend You Take

You can take some simple steps to protect yourself against identity theft or other fraudulent misuse of information. Notably, watch for any unusual activity on your credit card accounts or suspicious items on your bills. You may wish to contact your credit card issuers and inform them of what has taken place. You may also wish to do the following:

- Under federal law, you are entitled to one free copy every twelve months of your credit report from each of the three major credit reporting companies. You may obtain a free copy of your credit report by going on the internet to www.AnnualCreditReport.com or by calling 1-877-FACTACT (1-877-322-8228). If you would rather write, a request form is available on www.AnnualCreditReport.com. You may want to obtain copies of your credit reports to ensure the accuracy of the report information.
- Check your credit report periodically. If you find suspicious activity on your credit report or have reason to believe your information is being misused, you should call your local law enforcement agency and file a police report. You should get a copy of the police report since many creditors want the information it contains to address possible fraudulent debts.
- To further protect yourself, you may contact the fraud departments of the three major credit reporting companies. They will discuss your options. You have the right to ask that the three credit reporting companies place "fraud alerts" in your file. A fraud alert can make it more difficult for someone to get credit in your name because it tells creditors to follow certain procedures to protect you. However, requesting a fraud alert may also delay your ability to obtain credit. You may place a fraud alert in your file by calling just one of the three nationwide credit reporting companies. As soon as that company processes your fraud alert, it will notify the other two credit reporting companies which then must also place fraud alerts in your file.

- The three major credit reporting companies are:
