To Whom It May Concern:

In accordance with N.H. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 359-C:20, I am writing on behalf of Fossil Group, Inc. (“Fossil” or the “Company”) to notify you regarding the nature and circumstances of a recent data security issue.

On June 18, 2019, Fossil became aware of a data security issue affecting its Misfit.com website. Based on the investigation to date, the Company believes an unauthorized third party placed malicious code on Misfit.com. The code appears to have enabled the unauthorized party to obtain certain information pertaining to Misfit.com website users, including names, addresses, telephone numbers, email addresses, Misfit.com usernames and passwords, and payment card information (including card numbers, expiration dates and security codes). Not all of these data elements were affected for each impacted user.

Promptly after learning of the issue, Fossil took steps to block the malicious code and took the relevant website offline. The Company engaged a third-party security expert to conduct an investigation. In addition, Fossil has contacted law enforcement authorities regarding this matter. Fossil believes the issue no longer poses a risk to Misfit.com users while using the site. Nevertheless, Fossil is requiring Misfit.com users whose account passwords were affected by this issue to reset their passwords. Fossil also is encouraging users to change their passwords for any other account on which they used the same or similar information used for their Misfit.com account.

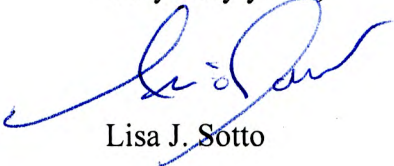

Fossil has identified approximately 5 New Hampshire residents affected by this issue. Enclosed for your reference is a copy of the notification being sent to affected New Hampshire residents beginning on July 18, 2019.

NOTICE OF DATA BREACH

Dear [insert personalized salutation]:

We are writing to notify you about an issue that may affect your personal information.

What Happened?

On June 18, 2019, we learned of a data security issue affecting our Misfit.com website. Based on our investigation, we believe that, between May 14, 2019 and June 18, 2019, an unauthorized party obtained certain information about some Misfit.com users.

What Information was Involved?

The affected personal information included data filled in on forms on the site, such as name, address, telephone number, email address and password, and payment card information (including card number, expiration date and security code). Not all of these data elements were affected for each impacted user.

What We Are Doing

Promptly upon learning of this issue, we took steps to block the unauthorized party on our site. We quickly engaged a data security expert to investigate and also contacted law enforcement authorities. We believe the issue no longer poses a risk to Misfit.com users while using our site. Nevertheless, we are requiring users whose Misfit.com account passwords were affected by this issue to reset their passwords.

What You Can Do

We are alerting you about this issue so you can take steps to help protect yourself. We encourage you to remain vigilant by reviewing your account statements and reporting any unauthorized charges on your payment card to your financial institution or card issuer immediately. We also encourage you to change your password for any other account on which you used the same or similar information used for your Misfit.com account. In addition, be cautious of any unsolicited communications that ask for your personal information or refer to you to a web page asking for personal information, and avoid clicking on links or downloading attachments from suspicious emails. The enclosed Reference Guide provides additional recommendations on the protection of personal information.

For More Information

If you have any questions about this issue, please call 1-855-322-1034, Monday through Friday from 8:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. CST.

We hope this information is useful to you, and we regret any inconvenience or concern this issue may cause.

Sincerely,

We encourage affected individuals to take the following steps:

Order Your Free Credit Report. To order your free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com, call toll-free at 1-877-322-8228, or complete the Annual Credit Report Request Form on the U.S. Federal Trade Commission's ("FTC") website at www.consumer.ftc.gov and mail it to Annual Credit Report Request Service, P.O. Box 105281, Atlanta, GA 30348-5281. The three consumer reporting agencies provide free annual credit reports only through the website, toll-free number or request form.

When you receive your credit report, review it carefully. Look for accounts you did not open. Look in the "inquiries" section for names of creditors from whom you haven't requested credit. Some companies bill under names other than their store or commercial names. The consumer reporting agency will be able to tell you when that is the case. Look in the "personal information" section for any inaccuracies in your information (such as home address and Social Security number). If you see anything you do not understand, call the consumer reporting agency at the telephone number on the report. Errors in this information may be a warning sign of possible identity theft. You should notify the consumer reporting agencies of any inaccuracies in your report, whether due to error or fraud, as soon as possible so the information can be investigated and, if found to be in error, corrected. If there are accounts or charges you did not authorize, immediately notify the appropriate consumer reporting agency by telephone and in writing. Consumer reporting agency staff will review your report with you. If the information cannot be explained, then you will need to call the creditors involved. Information that cannot be explained also should be reported to your local police or sheriff's office because it may signal criminal activity.

Report Incidents. If you detect any unauthorized transactions in a financial account, promptly notify your payment card company or financial institution. If you detect any incident of identity theft or fraud, promptly report the incident to law enforcement, the FTC and your state Attorney General. If you believe your identity has been stolen, the FTC recommends that you take these steps:

- Close the accounts that you have confirmed or believe have been tampered with or opened fraudulently. For streamlined checklists and sample letters to help guide you through the recovery process, please visit <https://www.identitytheft.gov/>.
- File a local police report. Obtain a copy of the police report and submit it to your creditors and any others that may require proof of the identity theft crime.

You can contact the FTC to learn more about how to protect yourself from becoming a victim of identity theft and how to repair identity theft:

600 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW

Washington, DC 20580

Consider Placing a Fraud Alert on Your Credit File. To protect yourself from possible identity theft, consider placing a fraud alert on your credit file. A fraud alert helps protect you against the possibility of an identity thief opening new credit accounts in your name. When a merchant checks the credit history of someone applying for credit, the merchant gets a notice that the applicant may be the victim of identity theft. The alert notifies the merchant to take steps to verify the identity of the applicant. You can place a fraud alert on your credit report by calling any one of the toll-free numbers provided below. You will reach an automated telephone system that allows you to flag your file with a fraud alert at all three consumer reporting agencies. For more information on fraud alerts, you also may contact the FTC as described above.

Equifax	Equifax Credit Information Services, Inc. P.O. Box 740241 Atlanta, GA 30374	1-800-525-6285	www.equifax.com
Experian	Experian Inc. P.O. Box 9554 Allen, TX 75013	1-888-397-3742	www.experian.com
TransUnion	TransUnion LLC P.O. Box 2000 Chester, PA 19022-2000	1-800-680-7289	www.transunion.com

Consider Placing a Security Freeze on Your Credit File. You may wish to place a “security freeze” (also known as a “credit freeze”) on your credit file. A security freeze is designed to prevent potential creditors from accessing your credit file at the consumer reporting agencies without your consent. Unlike a fraud alert, you must place a security freeze on your credit file at each consumer reporting agency individually. There is no charge to place or lift a security freeze. For more information on security freezes, you may contact the three nationwide consumer reporting agencies or the FTC as described above. As the instructions for establishing a security freeze differ from state to state, please contact the three nationwide consumer reporting agencies to find out more information.

The consumer reporting agencies may require proper identification prior to honoring your request. For example, you may be asked to provide:

- Your full name with middle initial and generation (such as Jr., Sr., II, III)
- Your Social Security number
- Your date of birth
- Addresses where you have lived over the past five years
- A legible copy of a government-issued identification card (such as a state driver’s license or military ID card)

- Proof of your current residential address (such as a current utility bill or account statement)
