Dear Attorney General Ayotte:

I am writing to inform you that Health Dialog Services Corporation, a Delaware corporation with a place of business in Bedford, New Hampshire, is investigating a security incident involving employee personal information.

Health Dialog is a provider of healthcare decision program services and analytics. We discovered a virus on the Health Dialog network on May 5, 2009 that resulted in a compromise of company data, in particular the data stored in the Internet Explorer browser cache on Health Dialog employee computers. Our information security team successfully removed the virus from the network and we immediately launched an internal investigation. We also reported this incident to the FBI and local law enforcement. We have learned that the compromised data may include personally identifying information that the employees typed while using Internet Explorer on their computers such as social security numbers, names, addresses, credit card numbers and expiration dates, user names and passwords.

Health Dialog takes such matters very seriously and we promptly provided notice to 390 residents of New Hampshire affected by this incident. As a precaution to help employees detect any possible misuse of personal information, we are providing one year of credit monitoring and protection services through Equifax. This service includes identity theft insurance, fraud alerts and routine credit reports with all three national credit bureaus. Additionally, we informed the employees how to place a fraud alert on their credit file. A copy of the template letter that we sent to employees on May 8 with respect to credit monitoring and the formal notification we intend to send to employees on or about May 14, 2009 are enclosed.

Protecting personal information is very important to Health Dialog. We deeply regret that this incident occurred and are evaluating additional safeguards to help prevent a similar incident from occurring in the future.

If you have any questions about this incident or need further information, please contact me directly at (617) 406-5264.

Sincerely,

Myra J. Green
Sr. VP and General Counsel

Dear <First Name> <Last Name>,

As we previously advised you, we discovered a virus on the Health Dialog network on May 5, 2009 that resulted in a compromise of company data, in particular the data stored in the Internet Explorer browser cache on Health Dialog employee computers. The compromised information may include any personally identifying information that you typed while using Internet Explorer on your work computer, such as social security number, name, address, credit card numbers and expiration dates, user names and passwords. In the e-mail you received on May 6, 2009 first notifying you of this security incident, we advised you to take some immediate steps such as changing the password for your work computer and notifying your financial account companies of stolen account information. This letter serves as formal notice of the security incident required by state law and provides additional information.

Upon discovery of the virus, our information security team worked diligently to contain it and successfully removed it from the network. The company also immediately launched an internal investigation into this incident to identify the source of the virus and has notified federal and local law enforcement authorities.

Health Dialog takes this matter very seriously. As you know from previous communications, as a precaution to help you detect any possible misuse of your personal information, we are offering you one year of free "Equifax ID Patrol™," which includes identity theft insurance, fraud alerts, Equifax counselors, and routine credit reports from all three national credit bureaus. We have already provided you with further details and instructions for registering for this service and for placing a fraud alert on your credit file.

We encourage you to regularly review and monitor your account statements and credit reports. In addition, the following human resources contacts are available to assist you with any questions or concerns you may have.
