Re: Recent Unauthorized Disclosure of Personal Information

Ladies and Gentlemen:

Pursuant to the New Hampshire Act Regulating Identity Theft, N.H. Rev. Stat. §§ 359-C: 19 et seq.. We are writing to notify you of a potential unauthorized use of personal information involving 9 New Hampshire residents.

On July 1, 2008, Huron discovered that an employee may have stolen paychecks and fraudulently endorsed and cashed/deposited them. Huron has terminated the employee. Huron has not been able to locate the employee, but the employee had an associate return the company laptop computer to Huron on Tuesday, July 8, 2008. Forensic review of the laptop computer revealed that the employee, who had authorized access in the course of employment to personal financial information of Huron current and former employees, had downloaded a full set of employee W-2 forms in a text file on to her laptop. We have no information of any use (malicious or otherwise) of this information by the employee. While this is not necessarily a case of improper access, we intend to inform our employees that personal information may not have been fully secured so that they can take steps to protect their personal information and credit.

While this is not necessarily a case of improper access to personal information or of data security breach such as defined under state law, we intend to inform our present and former employees so that they can protect their personal information and credit. We have reported this matter to local law enforcement (Chicago Police Department) and the FBI.

We are notifying employees of this incident as expeditiously as possible by email and by letter sent to them at their last known addresses. A sample of the communication to employees is attached hereto as Exhibit A.

We thank you for your time and consideration of this matter. If you have any questions, please contact me at 312-880-3189.

Sincerely,

Dear [Insert customer name]:

I am writing to inform you of a recent incident that may affect you. We have discovered that personal information about you, including your Social Security number and bank account information used for payroll processing, may have been exposed through a recent data privacy violation. An internal investigation has initially indicated that a former employee may have stolen from the company. In the course of employment, this individual had access to your personal information, and may have downloaded or improperly removed it prior to termination. We care for and take great pride in our employees, and we are taking this issue very seriously.

We do not have any evidence that your information has been misused, and we believe the likelihood of such misuse is low. However, out of an abundance of caution, we are informing all current and former Huron employees who may be affected by this incident so that they may properly evaluate what actions - if any - they wish to take in this matter.
