Re: Incident Notification

Dear Attorney General Foster:

Our client, JAM Paper & Envelope (“JAM”), understands the importance of protecting the personal information provided by its customers. After receiving a report that data from payment cards used on its e-commerce website, www.jampaper.com, may have been obtained by an unauthorized third-party on or about September 6, 2017, JAM began an investigation and hired a leading cybersecurity firm.

On November 17, 2017, with the assistance of the cybersecurity firm, JAM determined that if a customer placed an order on its website from June 15, 2016 to November 6, 2017, information associated with the order being placed, including the customer’s name, address, phone number, email address, payment card number, expiration date and security code (CVV) may have been obtained by an unauthorized third-party. JAM has blocked any further unauthorized access, notified the payment card networks, and is working with law enforcement.

JAM has established a dedicated call center to answer any questions that individuals may have regarding the incident. JAM is also recommending that potentially affected individuals remain vigilant to the possibility of fraud by reviewing their account statements and credit reports for unauthorized activity.

Today, JAM is mailing notification letters to customers that placed orders on JAM’s website from June 15, 2016 to November 6, 2017, via U.S. Mail to 161 New Hampshire residents in accordance with N.H. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 359-C:20 in substantially the same form as the letter

This notice explains the incident, measures we have taken, and some steps you can take in response.

After receiving a report that data from payment cards used on www.jampaper.com may have been obtained by an unauthorized third-party, we began an investigation and hired a leading cybersecurity firm. On November 17, 2017, we determined that for customers who placed orders on our website from June 15, 2016 to November 6, 2017, information associated with the order being placed, including the customer's name, address, payment card number, expiration date and security code (CVV), may have been obtained by an unauthorized third-party. We are notifying you because you placed an order on www.jampaper.com during this time period using a payment card ending in [xxxx].

We take the security of our customer's personal information very seriously. Once we learned of this incident, we took immediate action including initiating an internal review, engaging independent forensic experts to assist us in the investigation, and remediation of our systems, and worked with law enforcement. To help prevent this type of incident from happening again, we are continuing to take steps to strengthen the security of our website.

We remind you to remain vigilant to the possibility of fraud by reviewing your account statements for any unauthorized activity. You should immediately report any unauthorized charges to your financial institution because the payment card network rules generally state that cardholders are not responsible for fraudulent charges that are timely reported. You should also review the additional information on the following page on ways to protect yourself.

We regret that this incident occurred, and apologize for any inconvenience. If you have questions, please call 888-684-5013, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Eastern Time.
