To Whom It May Concern:

In accordance with N.H. Rev. Stat. Ann. §§ 359, we are providing you with written notification regarding the nature and circumstances of a recent event that may constitute a legally-reportable security breach.

We recently became aware of a theft of an employee's laptop computer. The laptop contained certain personal information about some employees of Kraft Foods, including names and Social Security numbers. Approximately 15 employees affected reside in New Hampshire. At this time, we have no information indicating that the information on the laptop has been misused. Additionally, we have no evidence that any information has been used to commit identity fraud.

Attached for your information is a sample of the notices we sent to affected individuals. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me at (202) 942-4360.

Very truly yours,

Enclosures

February 26, 2008

Dear Kraft Employee:

I'm writing to you about the possible compromise of your personally identifiable information. In mid-January, a Kraft-owned laptop computer was stolen from an employee while traveling on company business. The employee was working on a systems project which required migrating data from one database to another. The computer's hard drive containing your name may also have contained your Social Security Number. We are working with law enforcement authorities to find the laptop.

I am very disappointed and sorry this occurred. We are taking actions to enhance our data security practices. While we have controls in place, they clearly need to be strengthened. Over the next few months, we will complete actions that include:

1. Eliminating the use and storage of personally identifiable information on laptop computers unless it has been approved and encrypted.
2. Maintaining personally identifiable information on servers rather than laptops.
3. Conducting training for those who have access to your personally identifiable information.

As we prepared to send you this notice, we wanted to make sure that we had confirmed what information was on the stolen laptop. We also wanted to make sure that the credit monitoring service and our call center were well-prepared to assist you.

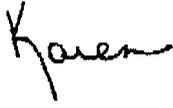

I assure you, we take our obligation to safeguard your personally identifiable information very seriously. While we have no reason to believe that anyone has accessed your information, we are alerting you so you can take steps to protect yourself from possible identity fraud. As a precaution, we are giving you an opportunity to register for two years of free credit monitoring from TransUnion. This credit monitoring service can help you guard against the improper use of your personally identifiable information.

We ask that you register by May 23, 2008 to begin the service. The enclosed reference guide tells you how to register for credit monitoring and includes other suggestions on what you can do to protect your personally identifiable information, including recommendations by the U.S. Federal Trade Commission.

In addition, you are entitled under U.S. law to one free credit report annually from each of the three national credit bureaus. To order your free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call toll-free at 877-322-8228.

We hope you find the credit monitoring and reference guide useful. If you would like to speak with us, please don't hesitate to call us toll-free at (877) 784-7748 (from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. CT, Monday through Friday and Saturday from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. CT). Again we apologize for the data loss and regret any inconvenience this may cause you.

Sincerely,

Dear Kraft Employee:

I'm very sorry to be writing to you a second time about the possible compromise of your personally identifiable information. In mid-January, a Kraft-owned laptop computer was stolen from an employee while traveling on company business. The employee was working on a systems project which required migrating data from one database to another. The computer's hard drive containing your name may also have contained your Social Security Number. We are working with law enforcement authorities to find the laptop.

While we have no reason to believe that anyone has accessed your information, it is fair for you to ask how this can happen again. I assure you, we take our obligation to safeguard your personally identifiable information very seriously and since the Caremark incident, we have put actions in place that will be completed in the next few months to enhance our data security practices. They include:

1. Eliminating the use and storage of personally identifiable information on laptop computers unless it has been approved and encrypted.
2. Maintaining personally identifiable information on servers rather than laptops.
3. Conducting training for those who have access to your personally identifiable information.

As we prepared to send you this notice, we wanted to make sure that we had confirmed what information was on the stolen laptop. We also wanted to make sure that the credit monitoring service and our call center were well-prepared to assist you.

We are alerting you so you can take steps to protect yourself from possible identity fraud. As a precaution, we are giving you an opportunity to register or re-register for free credit monitoring from TransUnion. This credit monitoring service can help you guard against the improper use of your personally identifiable information.

If you are registering for the first time, you will receive two years of free credit monitoring from TransUnion.

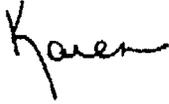

If you previously registered for this service following the Caremark situation, we are offering you an opportunity to extend the service for several additional months. You must re-register because TransUnion cannot continue monitoring your credit activity without your consent. The free credit monitoring extension will last for two years from the date you re-register.

We ask that you register for the first time or re-register for the extension by May 23, 2008. The enclosed reference guide tells you how to register for credit monitoring and includes other suggestions on what you can do to protect your personally identifiable information, including recommendations by the U.S. Federal Trade Commission.

In addition, you are entitled under U.S. law to one free credit report annually from each of the three national credit bureaus. To order your free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call toll-free at 877-322-8228.

We hope you find the credit monitoring and reference guide useful. If you would like to speak with us, please don't hesitate to call us toll-free at (877) 784-7748 (from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. CT, Monday through Friday and Saturday from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. CT). Again we apologize for the data loss and regret any inconvenience this may cause you.

Sincerely,

Reference Guide

We encourage individuals receiving Kraft's letter of February 26, 2008 to take the following steps:

Order Your Free Credit Report. To order your free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com, call toll-free at 877-322-8228, or complete the Annual Credit Report Request Form on the U.S. Federal Trade Commission's website at www.ftc.gov and mail it to Annual Credit Report Request Service, P.O. Box 105281, Atlanta, GA 30348-5281. Do not contact the three credit bureaus individually. They provide free annual credit reports only through the website or toll-free number.

When you receive your credit report, review it carefully. Look for accounts you don't recognize. Look in the "inquiries" section for names of creditors from whom you haven't requested credit. Some companies bill under names other than their store names. The credit bureau will be able to tell you when that is the case. And look in the "personal information" section for information (such as your home address and Social Security number) for any inaccuracies. Errors in this information may be a warning sign of possible identity theft. You should notify the credit bureaus of any inaccuracies in your report, whether due to error or fraud, as soon as possible so the information can be investigated and, if found to be in error, corrected. If there are accounts or charges you did not authorize, immediately notify the appropriate creditor and credit bureau by telephone and in writing.

If you find items you don't understand on your report, call the credit bureaus at the numbers given on the report. Credit bureau staff will review your report with you. If the information can't be explained, then you will need to call the creditors involved. Information that can't be explained also should be reported to your local police or sheriff's office because it may signal criminal activity.

Register for Credit Monitoring. You must register or re-register by May 23, 2008 for credit monitoring, which we have arranged to provide you at no charge for twenty-four months. Credit monitoring will provide you with an "early warning system" to changes to your credit file and help you understand the content of your credit file at TransUnion. The key features and benefits are as follows:

- 2 years of unlimited TransUnion credit reports
 - 2 years of unlimited VantageScore credit scores
 - 2 years of TransUnion credit monitoring
 - Up to $25,000 identity theft insurance for the duration of the two year period (Due to New York state law restrictions, identity theft insurance coverage is not available to residents of New York)
- Quarterly summaries of all credit monitoring alerts per year for the duration of the two year period
Toll-free TransUnion customer service professionals are available Monday-Friday, 7:30 a.m. - 6:30 p.m. CST

To enroll, please contact TransUnion at 800-242-5181 and enter code 601112 and the system will route you to the appropriate representatives. You will then receive membership materials after the enrollment that will describe the services in great detail. At the end of your free, two-year subscription, your subscription will be canceled and you will not be billed.

If you would like to speak with a Kraft Foods representative, please don't hesitate to call toll-free at (877) 784-7748 (from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. CT, Monday through Friday and Saturday from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. CT).

Apply the FTC's Recommendations. To learn about preventing possible identity theft, review the Federal Trade Commission's ("FTC") guidance. If you believe your identity has been stolen, the FTC recommends that you take these additional steps:

Close the accounts that you have confirmed or believe have been tampered with or opened fraudulently. Use the FTC's ID Theft Affidavit (available at www.consumer.gov/idtheft) when you dispute new unauthorized accounts.

File a local police report. Obtain a copy of the police report and submit it to your creditors and any others that may require proof of the identity theft crime.

File your concern with the FTC. The FTC maintains a database of identity theft cases used by law enforcement agencies for their investigations. By filing a concern, it helps the FTC learn more about identity theft and the problems victims are having so FTC representatives can better assist you. The FTC's Identity Theft Hotline toll-free number is 877-IDTHEFT (877-438-4338) or you can visit their website at www.ftc.gov or contact them by mail:

Place a Fraud Alert on Your Credit File. To protect yourself from possible identity theft, consider placing a fraud alert on your credit file. A fraud alert helps protect you against the possibility of an identity thief opening new credit accounts in your name. When a merchant checks the credit history of someone applying for credit, the merchant gets a notice that the applicant may be a victim of identity theft. The alert notifies the merchant to take steps to verify the identity of the applicant. You can report potential identity theft to all three of the major credit bureaus by calling any one of the toll-free fraud numbers below. You will reach an automated telephone system that allows you to flag your file with a fraud alert at all three bureaus.

Equifax	PO Box 74021 Atlanta, Georgia 30374-0241	877-478-7625	www.equifax.com
Experian	PO Box 9532 Allen, Texas 75013	888-397-3742	www.experian.com
TransUnion	Fraud Victim Assistance Division PO Box 6790 Fullerton, California 92834-6790	800-680-7289	www.transunion.com

You will be sent instructions on how to get a copy of your report from each of the credit bureaus. As a possible victim of identity theft, you will not be charged for these copies. Even if you do not initially find any signs of fraud on your reports, we recommend that you review your credit reports carefully every three months for the next year. Just call the numbers above to order your reports and keep the fraud alert in place.

Special Notice for Maryland Residents. If you are a Maryland resident, you may obtain further information about preventing identity theft by contacting the Maryland Attorney General's Office.
