Re: Incident Notification

Dear Assistant Attorney General Delaney:

On March 5, 2013, our client, Montana State University (“MSU”), discovered unusual activity on a computer in a central administration department. The computer was immediately taken offline and MSU began an investigation to examine what happened. MSU also hired an expert computer forensics company to assist with its investigation. After completing a thorough analysis of the computer, the forensics company determined that a computer virus may have allowed an unauthorized person to access information on the computer. Upon learning this, MSU diligently reviewed the files on the computer to determine the type of information involved. MSU identified employment information regarding current and former MSU employees, including names and Social Security numbers. No financial or bank account information was involved.

Even though MSU did not find any evidence to confirm that any unauthorized person accessed personal information, as a precautionary measure and in order to help those affected detect possible misuse of their information, MSU is providing eligible individuals with one year of complimentary credit monitoring services through Experian. MSU is also providing call center support for those affected.

MSU has taken steps to prevent a similar incident from occurring in the future, including a comprehensive review of its information security practices and procedures and re-education of its employees regarding online security awareness.

We are notifying 5 New Hampshire residents in substantially the same form as the letter attached hereto, with mailing commencing on June 13, 2013.¹ As described above, MSU diligently investigated the incident and is notifying New Hampshire residents as soon as possible. See N.H. REV. STAT. § 359-C:20(I)(a).

Please do not hesitate to contact me if you have any questions regarding this matter.

Sincerely,

Theodore J. Kobus III

Dear Sample A Sample:

Montana State University ("MSU") is committed to protecting the personal information it maintains. Regrettably, we are writing to inform you about an incident involving some of that information.

On March 5, 2013, MSU discovered unusual activity on a computer in a central administration department. The computer was immediately taken offline and we began an investigation to examine what happened. We also hired an expert computer forensics company to assist with our investigation. After completing a thorough analysis of the computer, the forensics company determined that a computer virus may have allowed an unauthorized person to access information on the computer. Upon learning this, we diligently reviewed the files on the computer to determine the type of information involved. We identified information regarding your employment, including your name and Social Security number. No financial or bank account information was involved.

Even though we did not find any evidence to confirm that any unauthorized person accessed personal information, as a precautionary measure, we are providing you with a free one-year membership in ProtectMyID Alert™ from ConsumerInfo.com, Inc. an Experian® company to provide you with credit monitoring capabilities and in-depth assistance in identity theft protection. ProtectMyID Alert is completely free to you and enrolling in this program will not hurt your credit score. Unfortunately, due to privacy laws, we are not able to enroll you directly. For more information on identity theft prevention and ProtectMyID Alert, including instructions on how to activate your complimentary one-year membership, please see the additional information provided in this letter.

We deeply regret any inconvenience this may cause you. To help prevent something like this from happening in the future, we are conducting a comprehensive review of our information security practices and procedures and re-educating employees regarding online security awareness. If you have any questions, please call 877-631-0440 Monday through Friday between 7:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. Mountain Time

Sincerely,

Terry Leist

Vice President of Administration and Finance
Montana State University
